

Anne Weiner

Schauspielerin & Schauspiel-Lehrerin

Diverses

Anne Weiner was born in Austria but grew up (she thinks she has) in England where she sang in the school choir. She made her first performance at the age of 15 playing, amongst other things, half of a pantomime horse in Cinderella (on the grounds of decency and taste she is not prepared to reveal which "half"). After graduating from ballet school she returned to the continent to dance, sing and act in Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland and Austria in pieces as diverse as Der Freischutz, Jesus Christ Superstar and Die Peter Kraus Show. Her appearances in Austria include Kiss Me Kate at the Volksoper, the opening ballet of the Wiener Festwochen, several summer festivals in Bad Ischl and various ORF television productions. In all she has been a right little busybody.

Anne now divides her time between raising three children with her husband Dennis in lower Austria, working with the English Lovers and learning from both experiences. She is working on several new skills including juggling thanks to Jim and Gordon (have you ever tried to juggle three children and a husband..... you always seem to drop one of them!), sketch writing, and snowboarding. Anne also translates books, does voice-overs and teaches impro and dance.

Kontakt

anne@english-lovers.at